

CHRONICLE A

YOU IN AN UNBURDENED UNIVERSE

1. Holding on to rigid beliefs and standards, traditional ideas and concepts, accepted knowings and understandings, ...and even to a definite selfimage ...and struggling to force events and experiences to conform to what you are holding on to is hard work that will quickly exhaust you! ...and consume your life!
2. Have you ever considered the possibility that the universe is so plenary that it is as it is ...and simultaneously is as you are? ...and as you are aware? ...and is also as everyone else is and as they are aware? ...or is that too bizarre or too chaotic for you to consider? ...then, be aware this is true!
3. No matter what you may believe, you will only see and understand our words in a whole context of your eternalself [Book 6], not in parts and pieces, ...therefore, we will only offer these awarenesses of the universe relative to you as an eternalbeing, ...for, believe it or not, you are vital to the universe! ...and you have the opportunity to show the universe what it truly can be, ...and, in that, you order and flow the universe around you! [Book 50] ...therefore, your personal beliefs and knowings about life ...and your reflections on experiences and observations ...and understandings of matters and events must always be considered relative to the fabric of your eternalself and life ...and the selfimage upon which your true beliefs and views of life and the universe appear.
4. As far as the "laws of the universe" allot to "you", the laws are not certain, ...and as far as they are certain, they do not allot to "you", ...therefore, if you don't know the true pattern of the universe ...or the eternal pattern of your self and life ...and how you view matters and compose beliefs, you cannot know yourself or the world around you ...or the universe in which you live to thrive, ...so you struggle and strive, ...do you want to continue that self and life "as usual"?
5. The seeming "truths" and "laws" of you and the universe are real only in the context of a particular whole, ...though, in mind, you are not limited to any particular whole ...and neither is the universe, ...yet you do exist in an individualized whole ...and the universe exists right along with you ...and you exist in a personalized way ...as you truly desire!

6. If this sounds too weird to believe ...or even understand, then be aware that your body was born in this world ...while you were borne into this "great" world! ...but, because you have identified yourself with your body for so long and completely ...and so emotionally and intensely, you cannot tell yourself from your body ...and you only relate to being born here, when actually you were borne here from afar, ...and, unfortunately, your parents and teachers suffering with the same problem have taught you many beliefs and ways to survive and get along in this great world, ...however, in all of those teachings, three tremendous understandings were omitted ...or languaged away...

7. Events are not occurring all around you! ...whatever you truly desire to become and be ...you already are!...and if that which is greater than ...is not also lesser than that which it is greater than, then it is not greater than!

8. This is true of both you and the universe you live in! ...therefore, the greater world and universe you suppose you live in is also lesser than you, ...and you are both greater and lesser than the world and universe around you, ...for, "as you were borne into this world, the world was born into you", ...would you like to know the eternalself that was borne into this world?

9. If so, then some clear dark night, look carefully at the stars overhead and realize that you are light years away in space and in future time from the stars you see ...and you are seeing what the stars were ...not what they are; ...in much the same way, if you will look into the future and reveal the image you see of what you most desire to be or become, then like seeing a star, you are actually seeing who you already are! ...and this is just one emergent miracle of the universe! ...are you willing to be and live this true part of yourself? ...and the miracles it offers?

10. Life ...and the universe is plenary forward and backward ...such that while you are busy trying to become in a world you believe you were born in, you are forsaking the self you "already are" which was borne into this world. This is not a trueself or realself or spiritual being ..."as opposed" to the personalbeing that was born here, the you that was borne here is a companion ...in communion with you, ...it is, you might say, a "greater-lesser you"!

11. Does it surprise you to hear there are two of you? You have frequently wondered about that ...haven't you? Well, it's true! ...there are two of you, living in communion, sharing your life! These are two definite and personalized beings ...neither of which is an abstract or unconscious spiritual being! ...are you interested in knowing more about the two of you? ...and the universe around you?

12. If not, then remember that one of the saddest aspects of a physical/spiritual life is the inability to live and express your dreams and desires to the fullest extent, such that, at a certain point in life, you will find yourself with unfulfilled expressions laying idle in your mind and life. These are not, necessarily, physical dreams of what you want to do or become that will never be realized, ...they are dreams of who you truly are that will not be realized in this lifetime, ...yet, in memory [Book 10], these dreams can be fulfilled ...which will enable you to be content in life [Book 23], ...for you are far greater in memory than you realize!

13. Einstein declared that massive bodies in the universe curve the fabric of spacetime! ...while this is not actually true ...or not all that is occurring, and we will discuss that later, for now, let's consider that, in the same way, you curve the personal spacetime around you ...and that curved spacetime stretches out continuously in all directions from you. Your personal spacetime is like being on the surface of a ball, such that any movement in any direction toward what you truly desire to be or become is also a movement away from who you already are; ...unless you realize this and live fully and contentedly who you are, you will, at every moment, unknowingly move both toward and away from the self and life you truly desire, ...which may make life seem hopeless and meaningless ...and without purpose.

14. Are you guiding, directing, and sustaining your mindfulself and life through memory ...or struggling with body·you memories? Are you declaring and living the meaningful promise of your mindfulself ...or hoping to live a meaningful and purposeful body·self and life? No matter what you are doing, since the universe has promised to "be to you as you are to the universe", your promise or purpose in life is the universe's promise and purpose to you!

15. You give promise and purpose ...and meaning to life ...and to the universe! ...does that surprise you? [Books 9, 14]

16. Those who claim the universe came into being in a Big Bang frequently declare there was "no before"! ...or even if there was a before, no one can possibly determine what existed and happened before that moment of creation, ...and those who believe in God, as the creator, proclaim that "what was before creation is God's business ...not mine, so I'll let God be concerned about that!" ...fortunately, none of these beliefs are true! ...for, before the Big Bang, if a Big Bang actually occurred, was, and is today, a multitude of quiescent mind [1A 41-44], ...so do not limit your awarenesses and realizations to the first of first's being, for data·information, which is mind, is something that appears as nothing, ...the Big Bang which is better described as a Big Rumble, merely made it possible for that something of mind that appears as nothing to appear as something!

17. Two scientists, a quantum physicist with an electron microscope ...and an astronomer with his soon-to-be Webb telescope, are looking at a multitude universe! [Book 12]...the quantum physicist sees particles within particles within particles until he sees particles that just wink into existence, endure for a moment, and suddenly wink out of existence, ...while the astronomer sees glowing multitudes of particles encompassing multitudes of particles encompassing multitudes of particles stretching out indeterminately in time and space.

18. Both scientists, without realizing it, are actually seeing the same particles! [Books 2 and 12]

19. In much the same way, you were not created! ...the physical universe makes it possible for you to "appear and experience and express"! ...for you are data-information-mind appearing as you, ...and as you can be aware of and realize the universe as quiescent mind before it appeared ...or was composed in a Big Bang, you can be aware of and realize yourself before you were born ...and borne into this world, so you can fully personalize and experience yourself and all things as you truly desire ...but we are getting ahead of before!

20. Before the beginning was not a singularity! ...what is believed to be a singularity ...and spoken of as oneness, physical or spiritual oneness, is a multitude! ...and multitude is a state of being many [Book 12]. All was quiescent mind of dynamic data ...which was "ordained" by memory as information, ...all was random, universal, and serene! ...the beginning was the coalescence of data-information ...such that formed energy and matter expansively appeared! ...all was particularized with time and space so it could be personalized and experienced! ...such that now, as you have experienced matter and energy, you believe the physical universe is composed only of matter and energy, ...don't you? ...and you probably believe that matter and energy can be transformed from one state to the other ...but cannot be created or destroyed, ...right? Well, let's consider this very carefully ...and see if this is true.

21. Since many people believe that matter and energy are immersed in spirit, it is important to realize that nothing is spirit "as opposed to" physical, for what is considered spiritual is still physical ...not-visible or not-appearing physical to be certain, but a physical that includes both that which is visible or appearing ...and that which is not-visible but can appear! ...this physical is natural, [Book 15], ...however, by setting physical and spiritual as different or in opposition, you keep what is unseen from appearing or phsyicalizing for you, ...and you create unresolvable struggles and conflicts in your body and life, ...is that what you want to continue? ...if so, then be aware this is not natural!

22. All things, seen and unseen, are viscous states of mind! [Book 50]

23. If you break down a chunk of matter to its constituent parts, you will discover that matter is composed of molecules and energy! ...and in doing this, you will also find the data and information that is released in the process of reducing matter to molecules and energy. Then, if you unbind molecules of matter, you will discover those molecules are composed of atoms and energy ...and the data-information that is locked up in atoms and energy. Now, if you split the atoms, you have subatomic particles, lots of energy, and the data-information that has been encapsulated in those tiny particles and energy ...which was released in the process of reducing atoms to subatomic particles and energy. If you then destruct those tiny particles, you will have only energy ...and the data-information gained in destructing the particles to energy.

24. At this point, by reducing your chunk of matter to energy, you have reached the lower limits of science, ...but you have energy ...and all the data-information gained in this entire process, so let's take another step past science and destroy the energy ...or pull it apart, ...and if you think this is impossible, remember, atoms were once considered the irreducibly small particles that came together to form the universe, but now you know that's not true, ...don't you? Sooo, if you destroy the energy to "nothing", you will still have all the data-information you've gained in this process that has been locked up in matter and energy, ...in other words, in this you have reduced the "stuff of the universe" to data-information ...which is mind!

25. Actually, in this, you have reduced everything to data ...and the information created through this action of reducing formed matter to data, ...and from all of this, it is quite obvious that all composed things of the universe follow the tenants that form data into information.

26. Data-information is mind! ...and information is the pattern of the universe! ...but, unfortunately you believe mind is as it is defined ...as "the part of a person that knows and thinks and feels and wishes and chooses; intellect or understanding or mental ability; reason; mental or physical activity ...as opposed to matter; a conscious or intelligent agency or being; consciousness", ...but all of these definitions, like irreducible atoms, are faulty, for, mind, like all mental activity, begins with data and information! ...and the information that is mind is further reducible to data ...which is quiescent mind; ...and the action of combining data into information ...and manipulating information is minding ...not thinking, just minding.

27. Thus it is that data-information as mind is vitally important, for it is the very essence and foundation of the universe ...a mindful universe!

28. Maybe you don't remember that, years ago, when blackholes were first discussed, scientists were terribly upset because, if everything disappeared down a blackhole ...never to escape, then data and information could be lost forever! ...as a consequence, blackholes were revised to possess an outer "event horizon" which energy and matter could move beyond and fall into the blackhole, but data and information, being without mass, could not be pulled by gravity past the event horizon into the blackhole, thus the event horizon kept data and information out of blackholes, ...however, this is not exactly true, for just as energy is trapped in matter, data-information, being coalesced to energy and matter, is trapped in energy and matter ...and is sucked down a blackhole, ...then as matter and energy are disintegrated to data-information ...called active mind, it escapes from the blackhole and is released to the universe to be coalesced again as energy and matter, ...thus, constantly renewing the universe!

29. Though many people doubt the existence of blackholes, the original mission of the Hubble Telescope was to "prove or disprove" the existence of blackholes, ...which were "proved"! ...in fact, it was shown that massive blackholes exist at the center of most galaxies ...including our own!

30. Of course, if you fell into a blackhole, your body would be stretched beyond recognition and then torn apart atom by atom ...particle by particle ...leaving only energy, which would also be torn apart ...leaving only random data-information that had been the body you were borne into, ...of course, mindfullyou, which had been borne into that body, not having been composed ...and thus having no mass, would not be affected by all of this, ...and the stretching and tearing would also cease because body-you, being only a shadow of itself, would have no density for gravity to continue acting upon. Through all of this, while body-you is shredded ...and reduced to random data and returned to the universe, for mindfullyou, as data-information, everything remains pretty much "as usual"!

31. The same is true if you pull a shoulder muscle, ...in that, mindfullyou does not actually hurt even though body-you is seriously stressed and pained ...this distress is essentially a "non-issue" to mindfullyou! ...and the same is true at death as your body decomposes, ...physical death [Book 54] is a "non-issue" to mindfullyou! ...isn't that grand!?

32. Theoretically, a blackhole is binary energy-matter that has been crushed by gravity to a point of zero volume and infinite density ...which is a singularity of unnumbered singularities, ...also known as a multitude of singularity!

33. Everything in the universe constantly changes state ...from singularity to binary and back to singularity, ...which is not to be confused with a singularity, for singularity is "unnumbered singularities", which is not oneness either, for everything is a multitude! Everything in the universe constantly changes from mind to energy-matter to mind, yet, remains as data-information.

34. Mind is not anti-energy-matter, for mind is not the reverse or opposite of energy-matter, ...mind, like spiritual ...though not spiritual, is the expansion of binary energy-matter to infinite volume of zero density ...and never opposes energy-matter ...or anything physical.

35. While memory holds data together as data-information, ...to coalesce and form binary energy-matter, blackholes release the binary bond of energy-matter ...and return everything to a singularity ...as a multitude of data-information!

36. The influence of memory increases and intensifies to coalesce energy-matter to recognizable and measurable mass, ...and greater memorized-mass acts strongly on lesser coalescences, ...and gravity is born!

37. Gravity, as "intensified memory", is a state in which eternal data-information is temporarily coalesced to energy-matter, ...and blackholes release this intensified memory bond ...and return binary energy-matter back to data-information. This binary-to-singularity-to-binary-self-renewing-process is the eternal essence of the universe which enables you, as data-information, to eternally live and die ...and thrive!

38. A blackhole does not trap energy and matter ...and release it to an alternate universe, a blackhole of intensified memory decomposes energy and matter to data-information ...and releases that back to this universe to be coalesced again to energy and matter; ...in this the universe is ever-self-renewing ...as all things in the universe are ever-changing-ever-self-renewing; ...this is not immortality ...it is eternalness!

39. So it is that whatever is composed ...decomposes! ...and self-renews again and again!

40. "So," you might ask, "how did this ever-self-renewing action get started? Who or what set this process into motion?"

41. From what we have described, can you visualize a condition before the universe, not of energy and matter ...or even of a singularity of extremely dense energetic matter, but of a field or state or multitude of only data ...called quiescent mind? ...though using the word "field" is incorrect, because, in quiescent mind, active space does not even exist. Quiescent mind is data without energy or mass, ...this data is something that is nothing ...that is constantly in motion without moving! ...which is like an electron that is a particle ...yet, as a wave, is not a particle! No one has ever seen an electron, yet it is a vital aspect of atoms ...which are the basis of matter in the universe.

42. Let's consider Einstein's "Spooky Theory" ...in which he declared that if a particle is divided in half and the parts are separated an infinite distance apart, if you then disturb one piece of the particle, the other piece simultaneously responds as though the parts are still joined! Einstein declared that since there is no time delay in this response, the parts could not be communicating, ...so he wondered what was occurring ...and he considered that no matter what was happening it was rather "spooky".

43. We will answer Einstein's query in a moment, but first, are you aware of "entanglements"? ...in which science declares that any two or more particles that are once related or entangled, continue acting together as one in the future even if those particles are separated across the universe, ...as in Einstein's Spooky Theory, what is going on? ...well, memory is going on!

44. Now, let's return to "before the universe" certainly before a Big Bang or Big Rumble beginning, to a condition of a multitude of quiescent mind, which is data that is something yet not a thing ...in random motion yet not moving, ...and this is certainly before the universe began ...because active time and space do not even exist in this condition of quiescent mind; ...this is a genesis! ...a genuine beginning that is not a beginning! ....for nothing has begun. In this condition of quiescent mind, data randomly colliding creates a memory or imprint of each "event", ...and even though the data that has collided is then separated across the universe, the impact-memory binds that data as information ...and a whole lot more!

45. Randomly colliding data should not be compared to balls on a pool table careening from here to there, ...for randomly colliding data appears here ...then appears there without traversing the space from here to there; ...this seeming motion is a common occurrence in the universe even today, ...and in appearing here or there, appearing data can certainly collide with other data already here or there, ...and that collision leaves a memory-impact on both, which entangles them ...and binds them together in memory even if separated.

46. From this, after endless collisions over billions of earth years, all data-information was memoryed ...or entangled. This is not a interconnection, for there is nothing interconnecting! ...and this certainly is not a oneness or wholeness, for memory enables everything to remain separate and individual yet act together as one ...or as a whole!

47. Let's describe this in different words; ...in a state of quiescent mind ...which existed before time, space, consciousness, or "stuff", dynamic-data ...or seething-data, which is something that is nothing ...like a particle that is a wave, is in motion but not moving ...for there is no active time or space in this before-universe, ...actually, it is more-accurate to say that time and space are quiescent in this before-universe!

48. Do you understand motion without moving in a before-universe of quiescent time and space? ...think of your television screen where things move this way and that way ...and fly so high they go off the screen ...or blow up completely, yet nothing on the screen moves ...pixels light up and change! ...or think of the scrolling sign in Times Square which seems to move news in continuous sentences around the building, ...obviously, nothing on the sign is moving, lights turn on and off in a sequence such that the words seem to appear and be in motion ...but they don't actually move.

49. Or maybe you enjoy the movies ...where everything happens on the big screen ...yet nothing is actually moving, ...the projector presents one "still frame" after another ...and you make that sequence appear as movement; ...two men do not fight ...you fight them, and you make the airplanes fly, the boats sail, and the cars race, ...and just for the fun of it, you blow things up with a big bang!

50. If you have that picture of sequencing in mind, then consider that science has shown that, on a quantum level, particles can move from point A to point B without traversing the intervening space, ...that's motion without moving! ...that's appearing here and then appearing there!

51. In 1993 information was transmitted from one point in space to another place by appearing-here-appearing-there! Particles and atoms have been teleported! ...and now even energy has been moved from one place to another without crossing the intervening space. It seems that "motion without moving" is becoming commonplace, ...of course, in all of this, scientists are only doing what the universe has done naturally for billions of years!

52. Maybe, instead of a physical-spiritual world ...or even a physical universe of matter and energy in a field of consciousness, we are beginning to see the mindful universe appearing in a field of mind as it naturally is! [Book 15]

53. Certainly, you remember the old Zen koan that asks, "If a tree falls in the forest ...and no one is around to hear, does the tree make a sound?" Well, just so you will finally know, the answer is, "No, ...certainly not!" ...though the falling tree creates a wave, which is something that is nothing, until you are there to hear and give sound or voice to the falling tree ...it makes no sound.

54. Now, consider whether, if no one is around, the tree actually falls? The answer again is, "No, ...certainly not!" ...for though the tree appears vertical ...and then horizontal, just as in the quantum world a particle can move from point A to point B without transiting the intervening space, the tree moves from vertical (point A) to any point B between vertical and horizontal without traversing the intervening space, ...actually, the tree appears here then there then there then horizontal ...but without memories of previous positions—and, remember, you are not there—motion as moving does not actually occur! ...thus, the tree is vertical then horizontal but does not move from vertical to horizontal, ...yet, no matter where you look in between you will find the tree, but there is no falling tree!

55. From this, you can understand that, like a tree in the forest, the universe does not event events!

56. In the same way, the before-universe without active time or space, dynamic data in motion appears here then there without moving from here to there ...and, as a random non-event ...without intention or purpose, data A collides with data B ...and impact-memory readily combines and holds this occurrence together as information AB ...which then collides with information CD ...and combines as information ABCD.

57. Now, because, in this illustration, CD had previously collided with E ...and carries the impact memory of E, though E is now across the universe as indicated in Einstein's Spooky Theory, CD brings E to the impact with AB, which actually creates information ABCD ...E, such that AB is aware of E ...and E is part of AB though AB has never experienced E directly.

58. This is the beginning of consciousness ...as memory-consciousness, ...of being aware of what you have not experienced directly ...or that is not visible, ...this is knowing beyond knowing!

59. AB is E! ...though AB has never experienced E ...and has no memories about E! Remember this vital issue! ...for you are, like AB, much more than everything you have ever experienced and stored as memories in this life! ...and in all previous lives.

60. In addition, AB is aware of everything E has collided with ...and what that data previously collided with ...such that memory-consciousness can be as expansive as the entire universe, ...and, from this, it is clear that everything is what it naturally is ...and is the promise of much, much more, for just as AB is AB, become ABCD, and is the promise of E and F and G ...ad infinitum, everything in the universe is as it naturally is ...and is as you are, as everyone is, and is as everyone is aware and perceives. The universe is to you as you are unto the universe!

61. But, how in all of this did you come about? Well, as data-information accumulated through accretion, memory, and self-replicating particles, the increasing intensity of memory "reached out" and drew other data-information to itself ...and that was the beginning of life [IB] ...yourself included! Are you willing to immerse yourself in data-information attracting data-information [Book 25, Truelistening] rather than continuing your struggle to be aware through memories of direct contact and experience?

62. As soon as you think of how you should be ...or how you want to become, you lose all awareness and realization of who you are! ...and who you are is greater than you will let yourself imagine!

63. And if you understand all of this, then you also understand that your intimate relationships are more about your own and your partner's previous relationships and memories than about your actions today, ...which clearly reveals that you are always living in the past, ...how rich and enriching is your past? ...what is the promise of your past? ...and what does that reveal about your future? ...and how is your true future revealed ...do you know?

64. If you now see that particles and energy and information can move from here to there without traversing the intervening space, then certainly you understand that your past can be your future! ...for you personalize yourself and all things ...and all random events as you are, ...and in this the universe is itself ...and is also as you are.

65. In the distant past data-information ...and the promise of much more was coalesced ...or more intensely bound together by memory [Book 10] ...and energy appeared, to be coalesced further, such that composed particles, atoms, and molecules of matter appeared ...all held together by memory, ...actually, in this, every physical thing and event in the universe is memory! ...because memory appears in and of everything ...visible and not-visible!

66. In the same way, your imaginative eternalself in memory appears in and of everything visible and not-visible in your self and life!

67. And though you probably won't understand this now, it is important for you to understand that your trueself—which is who you are naturally and all the promise (not potential) you are—clearly appears in every event and action and experience in your life today [Book 3, 11].

68. Spiritual is not in and of all things ...and spirit is not the foundation of all things! ...nor the field in which all things exist, ...memory is! ...and memory does not oppose physical ...whether visible or not-visible as spirit and spiritual do, ...actually, memory randomly accretes data-information to forms ...and sustains them, ...thus, memory particularizes everything so you can personalize and maintain all things and events as you are, ...memory is a greater and finer spirit than spiritual is! ...and memory, not memories [Book 10], always "functions" to expand and benefit you in every way ...and never opposes you!

69. Body·you, as a physical being is particularized by memory and DNA memories, so "you" can personalize your self and life as you truly desire, ...unfortunately, through languaged beliefs and memories, you personalize yourself as language demands ...not as you desire! Your beliefs are language ...and you believe your beliefs through language, ...which results memories of your beliefs, memories of believing your beliefs, and memories of reacting to them!

70. You think, speak, and act out your languaged-memories ...and emotion your languaged-memories, such that everything in your life today is founded on memories personalized by memories! ...but, since your languaged-memories do not reveal or accurately portray you or the natural universe, most of what you believe about yourself ...and everything in life is badly distorted or downright false! ...however, so as not to oppose you, the universe is as it is ...and simultaneously is as you are! ...in other words, the "truth" of yourself is all around you, not within you!

71. To accomplish this, ...and this is vital! ...all things and events in the universe are random data-information! ...but you don't really understand random ...do you?

72. Random does not mean "accidental" ...but does mean "unintentional" ...data-information, ...so the universe, in being free of any intention, enables you to be as you desire ...every aspect of which the universe clearly reproduces and offers back to you in a different form, which enables you to clearly experience yourself! ...random enables the universe to be this way for each person!

73. How is this possible? ...well, if you see a tree, you do not have a little tree-image in your brain! ...light reflecting from "something out there" impinges on the rods and cones in your eyes ...and is converted to impulses of data-information which, by way of optic nerves, are transmitted to your brain ...where the data-information is "seen" as a tiny tree ...but, of course, there is no tiny tree inside of your brain ...just data-information!

74. The original tree, composed of matter-energy, was really data-information held together by memory ...which you converted to optic-data-information-pulses ...and, in that, reformed the "appearance" of tree as you are! ...and as you convert data-information "stuff" appearing in the universe to the pulses of any or all of your senses, you personalize the data-information the universe has randomly particularized as tree ...and everything else as you are, ...and the universe remains as it is! ...and everyone else does the same!

75. The universe is a constant, consistent, and dependable environment in which you can be and live as you truly desire! ...the universe does not present or offer intentional things, conditions, events, or situations you must harmonize with ...only random data-information ...for you to do with as you are; ...of course, what you personalize of the universe is only "as you truly desire" if you are "as you truly desire"!

76. The universe promised to be to you as you are unto the universe, ...and it fulfills its promise at every moment! ...are you now willing to live in a universe that promises "to be to you as you are to yourself"? If so, then, first, let's turn the clock back 1800 years to Alexandria, Egypt, where Ptolemy, the last great ancient astronomer declared that his observations proved that "the earth is stationary at the center of the universe".

77. Ptolemy's belief remained the standard teaching until thirteen centuries later Copernicus demonstrated mathematically that, in fact, the earth and planets steadily revolve on their axis while orbiting the sun, ...and, of course, Galileo saw through his telescope that Copernicus was right ...but you still seem to believe that the sun comes up and the sun goes down around the earth, ...well, it sure looks that way ...doesn't it?

78. However, this heliocentric process does not mean that Ptolemy was wrong in declaring the earth to be the center of the universe, he was only wrong in saying the earth is stationary, ...for expansion of the universe enables earth to be the center of the universe no matter where it is, ...and the moon and stars and other planets are also the center of the universe!

79. For centuries, it has been declared that order, such as the consistent movement of planets and the sun following a geometric pattern reveals intelligent design of this world ...and thus an intelligent designer, ...however, it is obvious that memory alone creates the geometric order of motion, not divine intelligence, ...and, further, as memory continues at a distance, at any distance, the entire universe beyond this planet can certainly display or follow the same ...or a similar pattern or order without that indicating divine creation of the universe.

80. Of course, this is true and revealed in the context of the geometry of motion, but much more is additamentary in different contexts ...some of which might seem to conflict with this pattern of motion ...or even expand this and other understandings.

81. Is it possible for you to reach a scale of understanding beyond geometry ...and see that expansion enables the center of the universe to be simultaneously everywhere ...not just here or there? ...or have you been seduced into believing that if all stars and galaxies are moving away from every other star and galaxy, then, at one time all matter in the universe existed somewhere as a singularity?

82. The idea of an expanding universe beginning from a singularity in a Big Bang explosion is merely an assumption! ...for a red-shift-proof of galaxies moving away from each other can also be explained by a variation of time over astronomical distances, ...or, as has been suggested by some scientists, "the universe isn't really expanding, it is making more space", ...and, of course, there are other explanations that suggest a steady-state universe, "appearing" to expand, ...especially since the constant, blackhole destruction of energy and matter to mind as quiescent data ...and reforming to energy and matter enables an ever-renewing steady-state to exist, ...however, since this continuous renewal process can also occur in an expanding universe, for the purpose of discovering Ptolemy's "center of the universe", we will continue considering this in an expanding Big Bang universe, ...however, this universe is expanding from a multitude [Book 12] ...not from a singularity.

83. Everything you believe is a singularity or oneness is actually a multitude!

84. Are you willing to reconsider everything you believe about yourself and the universe? If so, then, if you draw stars and galaxies and other "stuff" of the universe on the surface of a balloon and blow it up ...like a Big Bang, all images of stars and galaxies will move away from each other on the surface, ...and move away from every place within the balloon ...not merely from a particular point ...or singularity, ...actually, every point within the balloon is the center of the universe of stars and galaxies and "stuff" which move away from every center within and upon the balloon, ...and if this universe ever collapsed, it would collapse to every point in the universe ...not to a single point!

85. The universe and everything in the universe is a multitude!

86. What is your place in this universe ...do you know? ...you live on a planet orbiting an obscure star in the outer edges of an insignificant galaxy in a part of the universe which offers very little to write home about, ...yet, in all of that bland obscurity, you are the center of the universe! ...not just the center of your private youniverse, but the center of the universe of "all things"; ...you are the center of all things ...and all things in the universe "reach out" from you!

87. Those who long for "simpler times" when everything in the universe revolved around the earth as the center of a limited cosmos don't realize that those simpler times still exist! ...only we now know that, instead of revolving around the earth, everything in the universe reaches out from each of us as the center ...and from everywhere else in the universe as the center ...as well; ...only in this way can the universe be congruent and reliable throughout ...and consistently knowable, ...and be to you as you are ...and to everyone else as they are!

88. Following this pattern, everything in your life reaches out from a coherent context that is you and within you no matter where you are or where you go. This is your place in the universe, ...at the center! Do not surrender or forsake your place in the universe to another! ...after all, there is an important reason why two things cannot occupy the same space in the universe at the same time, ...yet, they do!

89. And though it is difficult to see close up, your being the center of the universe does not mean that everything revolves around you, it means that everything reaches out or expands from you! ...are you as you truly desire? ...as you would have all things be reaching out from you as the center of the universe? ...are you a constant and reliable center?

90. What a magical moment it is to realize that you are the center of the universe! ...and everywhere you go ...that is magical as well!

91. There are no ideas, concepts, awarenesses, purposes, beliefs, laws, or other abstractions or guiding principles of the universe, and no unifying oneness or aspiration, only particular "things" randomly interacting with other particular "things" so you can... No! ...the universe is not without intentions and principles so you can be and live as you truly desire, for that would be an intention ...wouldn't it? ...the universe is completely random particulars without any overall design or purpose, ...therefore, you can always be and live as you desire ...and make of your self and life as you truly desire, ...and, in that, you make the universe in your own image! ...are you as you truly desire?

92. Because the random universe offers everything without any intention or purpose, the world was, at one time, believed to be chaotic, oppressive, and unreliable! ...as a result, ancient people created Gods to "explain" every unknown event and situation they suffered with ...and as a way to bring some degree of order and harmony ...or even meaning and purpose to their lives, ...and everything in life revolved around those Gods.

93. But now you understand that the universe of data-information is to you as you are to you ...and your being the center of the universe means that one place, position, or point-of-view is no better or finer than another to understand things and occurrences of the random universe, all images offer the same advantages! ...whether or not you know it, you are a God of illuminated knowing in the universe [Book 8 and 11].

94. In the same way, the true context of your self and life [Book 6] offers the same advantages for understanding yourself ...and the universe around you, ...therefore, you should consider whether or not you are awakening, enlivening, and realizing all that you are! ...and the universe you desire!

95. Remember, as all positions in the universe are the center of the universe, all contexts of life are equally advantaged, ...therefore, if you believe you are advantaged ...you are not! ...if your position in life is better or right ...it is not! ...if your way is finer ...it will fail you! ...if you judge or struggle against other positions and images of life ...you lose! ...and if you justify or aggrandize your position ...you alone limit or destroy your advantages!

96. In order for matters in a random universe to function reliably ...and be knowable, there must be an unchanging constant to relate all matters to! ...and for the physical universe in which you live, that one constant seems to be the speed of light! ...for though you and matters can move to within 99.99% of the speed of light, that last tiny bit cannot be attained or exceeded by energy or matter.

97. Are you willing to consider that data-information-mind is a different matter ...not limited or controlled by physical matters?

98. Below the speed of light, all things and events in the universe can be reliably known, ...however, if the speed of light in Einstein's  $E=Mc^2$  is a variable, you can never know anything real about energy or matter in the universe, ...fortunately, in the physical universe, the speed of light is constant and dependable! ...but your language-method of knowing is limited, faulty, and completely unreliable!

99. As the energy ( $E$ ) in a unit of mass ( $M$ ) is the unit of mass times the square of the speed of light ( $c^2$  ... $186,000 \times 186,000$ ), ...the data-information-mind ( $M$ ) in a unit of energy ( $E$ ) is the unit of energy times the square of the speed of light ( $c^2$  ... $186,000 \times 186,000$ ) ...which is  $M=Ec^2$ . In Book 3, we will ask you to consider that you are simultaneously living a composed mortal self and life ...and an eternalself and liveliness that is not composed, ...are you now willing to consider that the universe is both physical, composed, and mortal ...and data-information, not-composed, and eternal?

100. In the physical-composed-mortal universe, the speed of light is a superlative that is not exceeded ...and which acts to "organize" the levels and matters and appearances of the universe according to "a ratio of the speed of light and the flow rate of time", which for a three dimensional cosmos within the universe spans from a ratio approaching three to a ratio slightly exceeding three.

101. Of course, you must understand that in using the term "dimension" we mean a vibrational rate at which matters appear as something in a similar context. This is much like a holographic appearance ...and does not mean direction ...or appearances in height-width-length; ...do not confuse context of appearance with form of appearance!

102. Do you remember our discussion of seeing a tree [1A 73-74]? ...in that discussion, you converted a formed tree to data-information of optical impulses and then transformed those impulses back to a tree-image in your brain.

103. Now, consider that, in much the same way, the universe randomly accretes data to information to energy and matter to tree, ...but in all of this, the composed-mortal-tree is also, like optical impulses, not-composed-eteranl-data-information, ...and as you simultaneously know the energy-matter tree and the data-information tree, you can know and live a mortal self and life in a mortal universe ...together with an eternal self and life in an eternal universe.

104. Mortal-eternal do not oppose or supplant each other ...they are simultaneous but not one, ...they are individual in communion!

105. This brief discussion is intended to indicate that, like the world around you and the universe as a whole, you have different forms of appearance in different contexts of life ...all within the natural universe [Book 15].

106. Your finest aspects are those that are constant and reliable as you would do to yourself eternally ...not aspects that are judged "right or good".

107. Can you envision all things of the universe, seen and unseen, forming one single whole? ...in which even the smallest aspect has an effect on the greatest? ...that is the multitude of oneness! In this, is Nature or the natural universe trying to produce or evolve a higher or greater order of things ...or expressing the order that already exists? This is the alpha and omega of life ...the foundation and expansiveness of all things!

108. In this view, you, as a foundation and tiny aspect of the universe, are not learning-growing-developing, ...you are awakening and enlivening your awareness and realization of the greater foundation and wholeness of yourself ...and expressing that!

109. Life is not about learning and enduring trials, life is an adventure into new areas of meaningful possibilities ...and bringing those to life! ...remember, all of life expands out from you!

110. However, instead of living as you truly desire ...maybe because you do not understand the way and signs of eternal ...and in a desperate struggle to survive and be happy and satisfied, once you experience a desirable event, you try over and over to recreate that event ...or a similar experience again and again, ...but you seldom succeed!

111. And while you struggle with this reaction and recreation, you lose all active awareness and realization of your expansive and eternal self and life ...and matters all around you seem to be happening to you!

112. Because of these beliefs and actions, you have a fairly narrow and rigid concept of yourself ...and who you are! ...and what makes you happy ...and feel fulfilled and satisfied! ...and when you consider your desires and awarenesses ...and evaluate them against your life and experiences, it certainly seems in many instances that you haven't lived up to your hopes and dreams ...and expectations, ...doesn't it? ...what went wrong?

113. If you have been searching for "right answers", is it possible for you to concern yourself more with a belief's or idea's usefulness in your life than with its absolute rightness? ...or completeness? ...or truthfulness? ...after all, truth is only a languaged concept! ...and if contradictory beliefs and ideas are not contradictory "on some level", they are not contradictory on any level!

114. To adventure in life, it is necessary to take "the road less traveled"! ...an "open road" of expansive awareness and realization!

115. From all of this, we can declare that the world around you which you enliven to function orderly and harmoniously as the context for your self and life is not a separate world or universe ...and is certainly not an attitude about the random universe in which you live, ...it is your way of experiencing, presenting, and understanding the universe ...and realizing yourself!

116. The closer you live to the context you would live eternally [Book 6], the more enriched, fulfilled, and awarefully self-realized you will be in your life! ...such that, though to others it appears you have transcended the universe, this is merely the way in which you reliably live as an eternalbeing in the natural universe.

117. As everything in the physical universe is constantly moving about, the constant speed of light ...and all that implies is the only fixed aspect in life that enables you to observe and know the universe; ...in a similar way, you can only know and experience the expansive order and harmony of your personal self and life relative to a constant and reliable context! ...however, there is nothing better or more-privileged about your way of life ...as opposed to any other way! ...nor is any other way of life finer than your way!

118. Of course, if the context of understanding yourself and the universe is data-information-mind instead of energy-matter-material, then the context of your self and life expands tremendously ...but still provides the constancy and consistency you "need" to know and realize your self and life, the world around you, and the universe, ...after all, your mind can certainly travel ...even faster than light to the outer reaches of the universe and take it all in!

119. Think ...and you cannot exceed the speed of light! ...mind and you can! ...and that minds a completely different context for you and the universe in which to live and realize, ...however, you normally slow your language-thinking down to mouth-speed ...and, in that, you destroy your awareness and realization of yourself as an eternalbeing! ...and the context of that self and life!

120. Time and space are so intertwined that travelling fast into a future place actually moves you into the past, ...for if you were to approach the speed of light, you would find that things of the past that were behind you will appear as matters ahead yet to be experienced, ...in this, you are not seeing delusions ...or things to be, it is that you have yet to experience what you have previously become! This is a fine description of your eternal self and life ...and the universe you surrendered for language ...and minding at "mouth speed", ...why are you still limiting your self and life and mind so?

121. Do you see in all of this that no predesigned pattern, objective, or purpose appears in the events and conditions of the universe? ...even if you observe the earth orbiting the sun ...and declare that a pattern, since that orbiting occurs within the context of a motioning universe without intention, that orbiting remains random! ...and everything in that universe is also random! [Book 22]

122. In the same way, all events are random! ...such that an event does not mean this or that! ...and though appearances like planets orbiting suns, can be deceptive and seem intentional, each orbital event is random, such that, like the universe that is itself and is as everyone is, and the center of that universe is everywhere, each random event, free of purpose and intention, can be itself and also be as you are wherever you are ...however you are in life, and simultaneously be the same for everyone else ...no matter where or how they are, ...so each person can perceive, personalize, and experience each event as they are, ...actually, each event experiences and personalizes you and everyone else as eternalbeings [Book 3].

123. From all of this, you can see that the earth's orbital motions, the movements of all bodies in the universe ...including yourself, and all events are particular ...yet random, meaning without intent·design·purpose, in such ways that they are perfectly reliable and predictable on local, solar, galactic, cosmic, and universe levels ...and simultaneously much much more; ...and events and physical laws and principles are also reliable and predictable as they are individually personalized ...yet, those laws and principles are also uncommitted data·information, ...if it were otherwise, the universe would be limited to languaged-truths·commandments·dictates, ...however, as you perceive matters now, you can certainly see that all events and natural laws or principles are themselves as they are, yet can be innumerably personalized as you are, such that they never limit or restrict you!

124. It is not wicked or sacrilegious to break the "supposed" laws of the universe ...for which punishment and amends are due, ...simply because there are no crimes or transgressions in the universe! ...actually, there are no laws! ...now do you understand the source of your struggles and conflicts in your body and life?

125. You and all things and events ...being held together by memory, which joins them ...or memorys them, but does not necessarily particularize them, creates the "appearance" of being deliberate and intentional ...but they are still random, ...are you willing to see and live all events and things, truths and natural laws, facts and happenings, space and time, and even your self and life personalized as you are? ...if so, are you as you desire to be in the future? ...and have you always been as you truly desire to be or become?

126. Do you really understand that all random things and events which are current in your body and life today are past? ...and have a past? ...a memory past of data-information before being experienced and set into memories? ...remember, as we said before, ...the future self and life you want to create ...and the eternal self and life you hope to have ...are eternal in the past as well.

127. Can you see that as an eternalbeing you and your life are simultaneously eternal into the future ...and into the past as well? In this, there is no beginning or end, ...however, there is a foundation upon which everything in your past and future occurs at every moment, ...and you are that source and foundation! ...such that, as an eternalbeing, everything you do to become ...you already are! ...and your eternal past clearly substantiates that! Since that is true, if you leap to being who you want most to be, your past and future will completely confirm that!

128. The question seems to be, "Are you willing to be what you want to be?" If so, why not be that now ...and live it today? What are you waiting for?

129. In the same way that the universe and all events are random, though your existence seems purposeful and meaningful, you are merely a random occurrence, ...but don't complain about that ...for you have won the random-lottery ...and here you are! ...with an extensive past and present, so let's consider your place in the universe, which by the way is still random ...so you can be and live the promise of yourself and things as you desire, ...however, if you don't understand this, there is, for you, a barrier between you and memory ...and between you and the promise of yourself! ...ohh, you can certainly sense that promise ...but you cannot truly realize yourself ...or awarefully be your eternalself ...or live it!

131. Memories form a barrier between the you of language and memories ...and the eternal memory·you and promise you are, ...do you see that by living the events and experiences of your self and life you are living by memories ...and forsaking the eternal promise of yourself? ...and the promise of all things? To live the eternal self and promise of yourself and all things [Book 3], you must live by memory ...not by memories!

132. The promise of all things has nothing to do with "spirit or spiritual", for every aspect of you and the universe, visible and not-visible, is physical and natural [Book 9, 15] ...not spiritual, ...and what you think or believe is spiritual is in every respect physical ...not other-worldly!

133. Do you understand data A colliding with data B memorying information AB? ...and AB colliding with CD memorying ABCD? ...and because CD brought E to the relationship from a previous collision, the memoryed information is actually ABCD ...E? ...and do you remember that if E previously collided with F and G, then this memoryed information is actually ABCD ...E ...F ...G? And do you remember that there is a body·you born in the world ...and a mindful·you borne into this world? And do you remember our saying that you ...mindful·you have so intimately associated with your body that you have lost all real sense of yourself as an eternalbeing?

134. If you remember these things ...and understand them, then surely you see that collisions of ABCD are external collisions, and all things that come to you are external as well! ...do you realize that all emotions seemingly within you are actually external of you ...and externally induced? Do you remember that the mindful·you borne into this world is a separate entity from body·you born in this world? ...and do you remember that the world and universe around you are as you are to yourself? ...if you remember these things, then certainly you see that "there is no inner-you!" ...all things and events are outer to you! ...oh, there is an inside of your physical body ...but that is not an inner you!

135. Can you understand that inner-images and feelings are actually outside of the you borne into this world? ...that pains and illnesses in your body are outside of you? ...that emotions you sense and thoughts you think are outside of you? The inner-world and sense of yourself you've been told are true and real is actually outside of you, ...there is no inner-you to struggle with or oppose the world around you!

136. This also means that what you refer to as "your soul" is also outside of you! ...and is not your soul!

137. If you don't sense or feel or understand the correctness of these things, then the self that is truly you that was borne into this world is too firmly identified with your body, ...do you really believe it is wise to continue in this way? ...and do you understand that you cannot know or realize yourself from the inside? ...yet you do have a sense that you are much more or other than the body and life you have composed and identified yourself with, ...don't you? Would you like to know that self? If so, stop "looking within" ...it is common within everything around you! [Book 3]

138. Whether physical, spiritual, or mindful, you believe you are a product of evolution ...or an evolving being ...growing to a greater and finer self and future, ...however, you are a product of memory ...not evolution! Do you sense that memory reveals you have an extensive present and past? ...while memories and evolution merely hint at a future? In the completeness of the universe, memory does not deny future ...it brings that to you today! ...while evolution builds upon the past to create a hoped-for future, ...the greatest difference is that in memory, not memories, you can live the greatness you already are, while in evolution, what you were is whilom ...so you must struggle through cause and effect to become what you already are and truly desire to be ...but don't realize; ...understanding this, which would you choose to be and live ...what you hope to compose and become? ...or everything you truly desire? ...which you already are?

139. As we described before, if you are living events and experiences and things, you are repeating whilom matters over and over ...and forsaking your eternalself! ...therefore, if you want to live the expansive truth and promise of yourself and all things, you must live by memory before whilom ...which creates particular things, events, and experiences, so you can get ahead of events and conditions in your self and life ...and always live the fullness of yourself regardless of what is occurring around you, ...are you willing to live that self-evidently? ...eternally?

140. Memories of events, experiences, and things keep your body alive ...but they do very little for you! ...do you want to live survival matters over and over ...hoping for the future you desire? ...or do you want to live the promise of yourself and all things right now? ...and at every future moment ...especially the promise of what you are but have never experienced directly in this life?

141. Like memory, nonce-memories are active in everything visible and not visible! ...a tree limb has nonce-memories ...in that if you bend it down the branch will seek to return to its original position, ...metal also exhibits nonce-memories in much the same way, but trees and metals probably do not have memories as we know them and distort them ...and misuse them.

142. Memory holds random events and matters and experiences together without composing them [Book II], which "seems" to portray a universal rule or law, ...yet everything is random ...not planned or intentional, which enables you to compose and personalize events and matters as you are ...or be and live as you truly are without composing!

143. Previously, we discussed how the ever-self-renewing universe destracts unused matter and energy ...and unnecessary random data-information-events and experiences in massive and minute blackholes ...and recycles everything back to quiescent mind as data ...to again be memoryed to information and coalesced to energy and matter; ...in much the same way, are you willing to recycle your personalized memories, which are controlling and limiting you, back to the universe? ...or, at least, are you willing to renew and repersonalize everything in your body and life through memory?

144. Everything in life is particularized randomness of data-information, ...actually, every thing and event is itself ...yet it is also promise! ...not a promise nor any particular promise ...but unlimited promise, ...which is not an unlimited number of promises. There is particularization of promise in promise ...yet promise is you and is for you as you are to yourself, for you are promise! ...however, if you don't know who you are ...your promise disappears! ...and if you rely on memories to reveal you ...your promise will remain elusive! [Book 9]

145. While everything in life is particularized randomness, particularized and promised by memory ...but still random, you have the privilege to personalize yourself eternally as you truly desire [Book 5], ...unfortunately, following language, you personalize according to language and carry that in memories ...and sacrifice the promise and eternalbeing you are, ...that may not be desirable, but that is the way you have personalized yourself and all of life! ...and every thing and event in the universe fully "supports" your doing exactly that, since that's what you have chosen and done to yourself. ...have you chosen well? ...eternally? ...and as you truthfully desire?

146. Do you see that randomness held together by memory appears to be intentional ...but is not? ...appears to be meaningful and purposeful ...but is not? ...appears to be created and caused by a creator ...but is not? ...appears to follow "laws" ...but does not? ...appears to be fundamentally and ultimately spiritual and unknowable ...but is not? Of course, this also means that you were not purposefully created either, you are particularized randomness, ...do you care that you are a random occurrence? ...after all, you exist! ...so, now that you exist, how will you personalize yourself? ...and what will you do? After all, everything in your body and life is personalized by you ...for you! ...have your personalized wisely ...and as you truly desire? Do you understand personalizing ...not composing? [Book 11]

147. However, before continuing with how you will be in life ...and what you will do, ...let's return to the Big Bang, assuming there was a big bang, ...after all, though it appears there was a Big Bang, considering the randomness of the universe, a Big Bang is not required for the universe to be where it is today; ...maybe the big Bang is just another language-distortion of the universe, ...however, most people believe in "beginnings" ...and believe the Big Bang occurred in an instant of time, ...but what is an instant of time ...do you really know? Science says that in  $10^{-36}$  second the universe expanded from infinitely small to the size of a melon, ...but how big actually is a melon-size universe? ...you don't really know that either ...do you?

148. In that instant of time ...in a melon-size universe, the greatest civilization ever could have arisen, flourished, and vanished ...and remain today only in memory's memories; ...were you part of that civilization? ...or other civilizations which maybe you sense today but have completely lost and forsaken?

149. And speaking of other civilizations, did you know that, apparently, hydrogen and helium were created in the Big Bang ...and the other elements were created, randomly of course, in stars? ...which means that as stars vary throughout the universe, they create entirely different environments and civilizations and forms of life, ...so, you could have been part of many different civilizations at one time or another!

150. Now that you know you have lived before ...and have an extensive past, that you are random ...just like the universe, that you transform data-information into things and events ...and then convert everything back to data-information, that you are living time forward and backward ...such that what you want to become you already are, that you can mind faster than the speed of light ...and memory as expansively as the universe, that you have access to illuminatedknowing [Book 8], that the universe is to you as you are ...and as you are to yourself, and that you are simultaneously composing a mortal self and life in an eternal self and life ...just as the universe is doing! ...are you willing to acknowledge that you are not only God in your own universe, but, because you are always the center of the universe ...where you personalize all things as you desire, you are a God of the universe?

151. Einstein referred to God as "the old one", ...therefore, if you are unwilling to openly acknowledge yourself to be God, ...are you at least willing to declare yourself to be "the old one"? ...for as an eternalbeing, you certainly are an old one in the universe!

152. Now, in this chronicle of the data-information universe, let's return to when space and time first appeared... Actually, this is incorrect, for there was no "before time and space"! ...for time and space existed, but before objects, both time and space were quiescent ...not active ...but became simultaneously active as data-information became "stuff" which enabled "things", as particles and energy, to actually appear and move about ...and accrete, such that, following the pattern of dynamic data appearing here then appearing there ...colliding with other data ...and, in that, expanding by memory to information that coalesces to energy ...and was additionally coalesced to matter in active time and space ...more "stuff" actively accreted to form and appeared!

153. Several years ago, when particles of salt were put in a plastic bag in space ...and shaken, the random particles stuck together into clusters through accretion and memory, ...and as the shaking continued, the clusters grew in size and began attracting other particles and smaller clumps of salt ...such that individual clusters grew even larger.

154. From this experiment, scientists finally realized that the earth was originally formed in this way from solar dust clouds, ...and later, this aggregation of matter melted together to begin forming the earth as we know it today, ...and this accretion was completely random! ...without intention or purpose!

155. In a sparse cloud of widely dispersed particles, those particles that randomly collide·entangle·accrete tend to hold together through memory ...and grow larger as a unit until its mass attracts other particles ...and then more and more particles until, eventually, the mass of particles grows so large that gravity forces the cloud of particles to become even denser, ...and as the temperature increases, the cloud coalesces even further, grows hotter, and becomes a protostar ...within which atoms of tightly bound particles careen about out-of-control ...raising the temperature of the collapsing cloud of particles thousands of degrees until the mass ignites ...and a star is born!

156. Solar dust clouds come about as stars and consume themselves! ...for the life of a star depends upon its mass, but it also seems that smaller, dimmer stars use their mass sparingly ...and live much longer than massive stars which burn brightly ...and quickly fade! It is important to remember that, like a star, you are always consuming yourself! ...so what are you doing to constantly nourish yourself? ...not your body or memories or emotions, but the unseen self that is truly you? ...the eternal self of a dramatically different time and place which is also this moment ...and which was borne to this world?

157. Memories are recorded and maintained in your brain for active and direct application to enhance your personal survival, while memory is encoded and stored in the cells of your body to reveal and enhance you through every belief, thought, attitude, emotion, word, and action! ...are you willing to fully enliven every cell of your body to your eternalself?

158. If so, then certainly you see and understand that though your body is a temple of faith, it clearly serves as a library of data-information for the communion of your personalself·eternalself ...and, in this, your body is a vehicle for clearly living and expressing the fullness of yourself!

159. It is through the commonality of every individual action and experience [Book 3] that you are able to fully live your eternalself·personalself in communion [Book 7] without interference or contradiction!

160. Traveling forward in imaginative-mind ...backward in languaged-time, through personalized memories to memory, you can discover your eternalself [Book 3] and see if you were part of ancient earth-like civilizations ...or many others! ...that eternalbeing is the foundation of the self you sense and have personalized in your body and life today! ...however, in living by languaging and language-forward ...sometimes called cause and effect, you have forgotten the memory you are, which is what you hope to become, and, in that, you supplant your eternalself and life with a composedself and life, ...which you will surely lose!

You are advancing backwards!

161. Now ...we have some dark matters to consider. Observing the action of gravity, which is memory functioning intensely, scientists have calculated that 80% of the universe consists of an unknown invisible substance called dark matter ...and dark energy, ...which seems to indicate that dark is the natural state of the universe ...and light is the aberration, ...in fact, light and the speed of light are physical limitations or defects ...because darkness is actually the greater light of the universe!

162. When you clearly picture an image in your brain ...or when you dream at night, though your images appear to be "seen", since there is no light involved in dreaming and imagining, aren't these "visions" actually dark matter images? ...and aren't they clearly and brightly pictured in mind? It seems that what you image in the darkness of mind, or in memory or promise, is more-brilliant and intense than what you see in the light of light ...and in life!

163. Had your DNA body developed on a planet orbiting an infrared or ultraviolet star, it would have developed infrared or ultraviolet seeing eyes rather than ones that depend on visible light, ...and with a different set of eyes, the same universe would look and be entirely different to you, because the information you receive and process would be entirely different than matters as you see them through light-dependent eyes ...and consider to be "the truth", ...actually, seeing and experiencing through light-sensitive eyes significantly limits the data-information you have to apply in understanding the world around you ...and in knowing yourself in that world.

164. You rely on your eyes for gathering and presenting 90% of your information about yourself and the world around you, ...in fact, what you see plays a much larger role in what you believe and how you live than all of your other senses combined! ...in this, does light offer you an expansive view of the universe and the world around you? ...and of your self and life? ...or does light limit and restrict you?

165. The entire spectrum of electromagnetic energy is a critical aspect of the universe ...and visible light is a vital part of this energy, ...therefore, using visible light to gather 90% of your awareness about yourself and life ...and the world around you seems appropriate ...wouldn't you say? Well, let's see!

166. The electromagnetic spectrum is so large and diverse that if it is pictured on a roll of film, that film will be about 2500 miles long ...stretching from Texas to Alaska!

...and somewhere near the middle of the film strip ...close to Vancouver, will be one single frame called visible light, ...and that one frame of light is what you rely on for knowing yourself and most of life, ...does that seem wise?

167. Actually, your eyes only see a tiny portion of a tiny portion of what is given off by lighted objects, ...and then, as we described before about seeing the reflected image of a tree [1A 73-74], you transform what you see to data-information impulses ...and then convert that data-information back to a tree-like image.

168. Maybe your great dependence on visible light is not so wise after all! ...for you can see much more by the illumination of reason and imagination than you ever can by the illumination of light! ...and reason and imagination reach far beyond enlightenment ...to illuminated being. (Book 8,11,51)

169. No matter what eyes you have, the universe is as it is ...and is also as you are! ...therefore, though you have light-dependent eyes, you can know an entirely different self and world, ...but you only seem to know the "you" that is reflected to you in a mirror, ...isn't it about time to close your light-dependent eyes and see yourself and the world around you expansively and more clearly in mind? ...for your light-dependent eyes have narrowed your field of vision and knowing! ...isn't it time to get a broader image of your self and life than what you have limited yourself to through light ...and your light-dependent selfimage?

170. Light is an intruder in the universe! ...and relying only on reflected forms or visible objects deprives you of 90% of the world around you ...and an expansive awareness of yourself! ...for you are largely composed of dark matter!

171. It seems that enlightenment limits, lessens, and restricts you! ...and clearly seeing what does not appear is a first step to expanding your awareness and realization beyond the enlightenment of light. Are you willing to behold your self and life and the universe more-full as they truly are ...instead of limiting yourself only to seeing what is visibly appearing ...and barely sensing some of what is not visible?

172. Your reliance on light has blinded you! ...and deceived you! ...for you are relying on reflections; ...could it be that what is not visible, yet is clearly seen, is truly alive? ...for your self and life that exists independent of lighted-spacetime is genuinely personal ...in a personalized-spacetime, ...however, this personal spacetime world is all around you ...not within you, ...but you are too blinded by light even to see yourself, ...and too dependent upon light to realize much without light.

173. The universe expanding into the darkness is expanding into "the light of darkness", ...and you "standing between a world of light and a world of dark", are not standing between awareness and ignorance, between life and death, between good and evil, or between right and wrong, ...for in the light of darkness, dualities do not oppose, they complement and fulfill one another ...just as the spacetime of light complements the spacetime of darkness.

174. The spacetime of darkness does not mean "turn off the lights and everything will be different and revealed", ...the spacetime of dark matter in the enlightened darkness of mind is completely different than what you are accustomed to in the light, ...and what you see and experience in the darkness of mind is clearer and more-expansive than what is encountered in the light, for, as in dreams, darkness is brighter and more-illuminating than the glitter of light ...because everything is seen and experienced directly in mind not perceived as a reflection in light transfigured from data-information.

175. At present, the composed and reflected self and life you know ...as exposed and revealed in the light of experiences and memories limits and lessens you! ...actually, you are wasting away in the light of your blindness! ...are you willing to see yourself fully and clearly ...and realize the multitude and commonality of your self and life in the light of darkness ...in mind and memory?

176. The illuminated truth of yourself lies in the communion and interaction between your composed and observed self (personalbeing, Book 4) and the self (privilegedbeing Book 5) you can behold! ...neglect or disavow either and you forsake your illuminatedself and knowing (Books 8 and 11).

177. However, ...in looking aback, spacetime is quiescent! ...and without an active spacetime, a beginning does not exist, ...and if a beginning doesn't exist, an ending doesn't exist either, which means that an original birth and death are false appearances.

178. Do you believe in life after an appearance of death? ...or hope for life after that occurrence? If so, which life are you living now, your life before death ...or your life after death? Maybe the reason you cannot clearly describe the meaning of spiritual ...or know your spiritual self and life is because this is your "spiritual" self and life! Is this your life of life ...or your spiritual life after death, ...you don't know ...do you? ...and you cannot know ...right?

179. Why ever do you assume this is your life of life? ...and a spiritual life after death will follow ...and be greater? Maybe this is the greater life you have forsaken to language and memories ...and you are missing out. If this is your life of death, couldn't your life today be your "life review"? ...and if this is your life of death, what life do you expect ...or hope for? ...or look forward to?

180. Is this your dreary self and life today ...or the great-civilization-life of the Big Bang moment? [1A 147] ...you can't tell, can you? ...but, because of language-forward you are certain this is not a great-big-bang-civilization-life, ...aren't you?

181. Do you believe that, in any way, you will pay in life for your faults and failures? ...your sins? ...or even your crimes and misdemeanors? ...or maybe you believe there are no consequences for your actions. Well, in fact, actions continue as actions ...not as consequences [Book 19,22] ...and all faults, failures, and sins decompose [Book 11] ...leaving nothing to be judged or paid for! ...of course, in this, there is nothing to be rewarded for either! Do not struggle to make amends with others, amend your beliefs and self! ...better yet, transform your self completely [ID]

182. However, if you do believe in a life of consequences for a life of misdoing, ...do you really know whether your life today is your life of misdoing ...or your life of consequences? ...you don't know, do you? ...but, if you did know, would you change your beliefs and attitudes about your self and life today? What beliefs and attitudes would you change? ...and how would you do that?

183. After you think about that question, We'll continue by considering that because of memory, all aspects of the universe have more than just a relative relationship to other nearby aspects ...which have a relationship relative to their nearby aspects, and those aspects to others ...and to an every-increasingly widening circle of related relationships ...these relationships are dependencies! ...such that every aspect and body of the universe exerts a memory-attraction or pull of dependency on aspects around them, ...and more-massive bodies create a more-massive attraction and dependency around them!

184. Do you remember our illustration of aspect AB memoryed to CD which memoryed to E which is memoryed to F and G and H ...etc? The more-massive a body is of such complex aspects ...or the more-densely those aspects are coalesced and composed into a body of multitudes, the greater the memory attraction or pull of dependency is upon surrounding bodies.

185. Apologies to Einstein! ...gravity is not a bending of the fabric of spacetime such that smaller bodies fall toward and orbit larger bodies, for spacetime is a fluid ...and gravity is the dependent attraction of memory within that fluid!

186. Can you understand dependency being attractive in "both directions" as codependency between two bodies? ...such that the attraction increases with mass? Gravity begins as memory between two aspects of a particle ...and increases as more and more aspects and particles are attracted and entangled!

187. Are you willing to undo the massive strangle-hold that language and memories have on your self and life ...and memory yourself as you genuinely are? ...and, in that, repersonalize yourself as the eternal privilegedbeing you are? ...and finally know yourself again as you truly are? ...and fully feel and live your trueself and life again? ...wouldn't that lighten the load you are carrying in your body and life?

188. The universe has hardwired emotions into your brain! [Book 23] ...how does that affect how you feel about your self and life? Before you get disturbed ...or feel lessened or overburdened by your emotional self and life, realize that though emotions are hardwired ...your inducers of each emotion are not! ...those inducers are yours to personalize as you desire! ...as such, every event and experience ...and your self and life are not about emotions, they are about what emotion you have chosen to induce in each event [Book 23], ...actually, just about everything in your life today is about your composing to induce emotions!

189. What is important to realize in this is that your memory-consciousness of what you have not experienced directly ...and your emotions are clearly and strongly linked, ...indicating that your most-intense emotions are not about what you are composing and experiencing ...or have experienced, but are about what you have not experienced directly in this life ...but have composed in mind. In this, your most intense emotions are about the anticipation of what you assume or expect or fear will occur ...and less about the happening or experiencing itself, ...actually, the event or experiencing the event frequently changes or lessens the emotions of an experience.

190. There is a great anticipation in anger and fear and love ...yet these emotions quickly change or lessen in experiencing what or whom you are angry about, fearful of, or in love with. From this, it appears that extraordinariness and intensity exist more in the mindful promise of things and matters than in achieving, possessing, or experiencing, ...could this be the reason that instead of truly being yourself, you deny yourself so? ...or why the future of yourself always seems just out of reach? ...or you keep matters out of reach as a way to preserve the intense and extraordinary feelings of promise? [Book 9]

191. Do you understand how memories keep you feeling ordinary? Is it possible you feel that your "trueself" will not be as extraordinary as you dream? ...maybe just being alive has destroyed your intense and extraordinary feeling of being alive!

192. Or, is it possible that you are so fearful of your intense feelings that you compose [Book 11] matters and experiences in your body and life to "lessen" your emotions? Does the thought of eternal life actually distress you? Don't be too quick to deny this!

193. Do you really believe there is an end to promise? [Book 9] ...that you will meet and complete your dreams and desires ...and destroy your intense anticipation? ...do you actually think life is that small? ...or that even the real you of memory is that small? Are you so concerned that your exceptional will be so ordinary that you are willing to die in anticipation? ...do you see in this what language and memories and emotions have done to you?

194. Are you willing to memory, personalize, and live every day what you have not experienced before in this life? ...wouldn't that be intense and extraordinary? ...and isn't that truly "living in the moment"?

195. If you think back and try to recall yourself, you cannot recall beyond your memories and your DNA-self, ...can you? ...however, if you lived a memory-self and life "before", and you did! ...you have memory of that and a form of self "beyond" memories; ...and how you have personalized memory beyond memories is your eternalself today! ...but you don't see this, ...do you? ...actually, you sense your extraordinary memory-self and life, but you are burdened by the attraction and attachment of experiences, memories, and induced emotions ...and your dependency upon them!

196. Personalized memory "beyond" memories! ...is this memory forward into the future or backward in the past? ...you don't really know ...do you? Languaging-forward has you believing in future and anticipating becoming ...yet, outside of the "deception of language" you are today, in personalized memory, what you hope someday to become!

You already are what you dream of becoming!

197. Having described this universe ...and your place within it in little ways, are you willing to see and experience this for yourself? ...up close and personal? ...in more detail? If so, then remember that no matter what you see or experience all around you, this is the past! ...and beyond your immediate surroundings, which you claim to know reasonably well, your knowledge fades rapidly and dims into conjecture, ...and the closer and deeper you look, the further into the past you are seeing ...which is your future!

198. In your language and perceptions, though you think the past is gone and the future hasn't arrived ...so you live in the present, none of this is true! ...you actually live in nonce time, meaning "for this occasion", ...but, because of memories, you are living on the leading edge of the past ...seeing, feeling, experiencing only the past over and over.

199. Following language, you see and experience change and infer time, but, no matter what language declares, Mother Nature is not to be controlled, inferred, or "fooled with", ...life moves equally in both directions ...from past to future and from future to past, ...such that what you most desire to become is what you are!

200. Obviously, though you live in the present, you only see and know the past, ...why are you so reluctant to see and know yourself in the deepest and clearest past possible? ...which is your future! Look past memories and you will see your future!

201. Because of your languaged memories, the time you infer in every situation is the time you live in. You think you live in a steadily measured 24-hour flow of time, yet, you don't even know if you move through time or time flows all around you, so you rely on languaged changes and memories to set the pace of your self and life ...and you bet your life on that, ...do you create and live the time of your life wisely?

202. Just 500 years ago people relied on the sun coming up and the sun setting to tell time, and they built clocks to measure the interval between rising and setting ...and they regulated their body and life accordingly, ...and while it is declared that they only lived about 40 years, since observed change then was far-slower than today, the inferred time lived 500 years ago was much longer than today!

203. When Galileo's telescope "verified" that the earth orbited the sun, our cosmic view was changed forever, yet you still believe the sun comes up and the sun goes down.

204. In looking at the universe through a telescope, you are at the center of all you observe, but you can see only to the limits of what your telescope and beliefs reveal, ...and it seems that your old beliefs are too precious to change ...and you are going to cling to them ...no matter what! ...and though the atmosphere of your beliefs distorts everything you see ...and drastically limits you, even what you see and your limitations are too precious to change.

205. Astronomers since Galileo have felt limited by their telescopes ...and by earth's atmosphere, such that in 1947 when the Hubble space telescope was first considered, it was founded on the idea that by putting a telescope above the atmosphere, our view of the cosmos around us would be much clearer; ...in much the same way, to clearly see and understand your self and life ...and the world you live in, and even beyond, you must get above the atmosphere of your distorted beliefs, experiences, emotions, and teachings ...and beyond your memories and language, ...and though astronomers using the Hubble telescope haven't seen beyond their language and memories ...you can!

206. At the beginning of this Chronicle, we asked, "have you ever considered the possibility that the universe is so plenary that it is as it is ...and simultaneously is as you are ...and as you are aware ...and is also as everyone else is and as they are aware? In order for this to be true, and it is! ...all things and events, including time and space, must be random, ...and they are! ...and you order that randomness as you are ...and as you are aware, and you experience all things as particular aspects of the universe ...believing events follow the dictates of natural and reliable laws and truths happening to you, ...however, in reality, the universe and all events are still random ...yet appear intentional; ...the funny thing is, the intentional you sense and experience is your own intentional ...and you don't see that ...or understand it! ...are you willing to think of a different you and different world around you? ...and a more-expansive intentional for yourself?

207. You think! ...or maybe it is that you only think you think, ...for you don't even know how to create a thought, so how do you think? Alive in a mindful universe, you never create a thought, for thinking and alive are synonymous! ...and as long as you are alive, you are thinking, and as long as you are thinking ...you are alive, ...therefore, you form or reify thoughts, you do not create them, ...you control and try to direct mind ...and you confine, focus, and limit mind ...and call that thinking ...does that seem reasonable?

208. In Lewis Carroll's Through the Looking Glass, the White Queen told Alice to think of at least one impossible thing each day, and the White Queen even bragged a little that some days she thinks of three impossible things before breakfast. Following this advice, can you think of thinking in some impossible way other than by controlling, confining, focusing, and limiting your minding to language and memories? In other words, instead of coalescing mind down to individualized thoughts that you become, can you coalesce your individualized thoughts up to mind? ...can you think beyond language-thinking? ...and live that?

209. All entangled things remain entangled or "interconnected" by memory ...but they are not controlled, confined, or limited by memory ...they are promised by memory! [Book 9] ...can you think in entangled, interconnected promise-forms ...not in personalized-forms? ...which have seriously confined your composedself and life, limited your minding to language thinking, distorted your awareness and realization, and stolen your eternalself and life from you!

210. You personalize and mind the universe as you are! ...have you personalized yourself wisely? ...desirably? ...and as you truly desire the universe to be?

211. All material "stuff" and objects in the universe are solid configurations of mindful beliefs, thoughts, emotions, ideas, and concepts, ...which enables them to be experienced directly and consistently, changed and exchanged, combined and altered, converted into many different forms, ...and, though remaining constant and consistent, may be changed again and again ...and experienced directly, ...while beliefs, thoughts, emotions, ideas, and concepts as data-information are frequently inconsistent and wispy, constantly varying, and difficult to grasp and hold on to.

212. Solid forms of data-information-mind can be easily and consistently experienced and understood ...and will remain relatively steady and constant over a lifetime ...during which the interrelationship between beliefs, thoughts, emotions, ideas, and concepts can be memoryed ...or experienced and remembered, ...or set aside for later consideration.

213. Material "stuff" and matters of the universe bring your thoughts and ideas to life and form ...and use! ...and provide a reasonably-steady, dependable, and reliable mind in which to live and function!

214. You only experience and remember your own mindfulness! ...and the world you live in is the world of memories you have created for yourself, ...such that, in all things, you are struggling with and against your own mind and memories!

215. Your entire life depends upon your vision and holding things in mind, but, for most people, visualizing and holding matters or patterns in mind even for a short time is difficult, ...therefore, the basic elements of mindforms are maintained in material "stuff" and objects around you!

216. The constancy and consistency of mind is maintained from moment to moment ...and from yesterday through today to tomorrow in mindful objects ...which, in creating feelings of reliability and dependability, offers you a sense of realized sureness ...which brings about clarity and freshness, ...and tends to overcome doubt and uncertainty, maintains constancy while your attention is focused elsewhere, and offers expansive awareness through concentration, stability, and form. Forms are dependable complices, but, unfortunately, you treat them as antagonists!

217. Every aspect of the natural universe ...especially material objects, enable you to clearly see and experience yourself and your mind!

218. Those who frequently declare, in one form or another ...loudly or quietly, that it is fruitless to speculate on the nature of the universe and world around you ...that it must be experienced directly ...not engaged in intellectually, don't seem to realize or understand that you only experience as you already believe, which means that most actions and experiences to expand or change your beliefs and life are meaningless!

219. Therefore, unless you are completely satisfied with every aspect of your self and life today ...and you are willing to live that over and over to eternity, it is advisable to consider how life and things in the universe, including yourself, may have gotten to the state you perceive and believe and experience today ...and simultaneously may be entirely different or other, ...for until you understand all things in that way, you won't change your beliefs and ways and experiences, ...which means that you and matters will remain pretty much as they are for you today! ...is that what you want to continue?

220. Okh, the world around you may change drastically, but by maintaining the same beliefs, though everything is different, your experiences will remain essentially the same! ...which will convince you that your beliefs and things as you believe them to be are entirely correct ...yet they may be completely incorrect ...or inappropriate for you!

221. Only by understanding how you and the universe and the world around you could have come about in an entirely different way than you believe ...and yet appear to you as you think things and events are today will you change your mind about yourself, your life, and the world you live in ...and experience matters differently!

222. Do you see in this that, in every belief, statement, experience, or action, if you do not fully consider how matters could actually be ...or have become as you think they are, you are confined in your own thinking?

223. If you are in conflict with yourself, life and all things will appear to conflict with you, ...if you do not know yourself, life will seem unknowable, ...and if you are not in accord with yourself ...or you feel threatened by yourself, life will seem threatening and not in accord with you as well.

224. Are you living as you truly desire? ...or as best you can? Do you understand how this attitude, one way or the other, completely controls and affects your sense of yourself and the universe? ...and your awareness of everything in the world around you?

225. Do you really have the freedom to live as you truly desire? ...well, believe it or not, life is to you as you are to yourself! ...and you and the universe are not as you language them to be, yet, just to accommodate you, they can and will appear to you as you language them to be, ...therefore, all efforts to understand your self and the universe and your beliefs as you believe these things to be ...and language them ...confines you in language and in your old distorted languaged-beliefs ...which you cannot see beyond.

226. Ask yourself, "How could I and all things within me ...and in the universe all around me have come about such that they appear and are languaged in one way, yet are also entirely different or other?" ...for unless you can answer this question to some reasonable degree, you will not change what you already believe ...and language to be true! ...and nothing will change within you ...or around you!

227. As long as you use language as the tool to discover and language yourself and the world around you, what you discover will be languaged! ...but neither you nor the universe nor the world around you actually live or play by language ...or by the rules and underlying structure of language, ...and that fact alone accounts for the pain and illness, conflicts, doubts, and disappointment in your life!

228. Think beyond the rules and limitations of language ...then apply language only to describe what you have discovered, ...because, if nothing in the universe is actually only as it is languaged to be ...and it is not! ...then neither are you!

The universe always and in all ways supports you!
