

YOURS IS NOT YOURS

1. You do not own your doctor, your mechanic, or your plumber! ...yet they are your doctor, your mechanic, and your plumber ...simply because you gain the benefits from them of body and auto repair and a functioning plumbing system, ...so they are yours but not yours!

2. In the same way, your parents are not yours! ...they are your body's parents! ...and your siblings are your body's brothers and sisters ...not yours! Your parents are yours only in that you gain some benefits from them ...maybe it is that, like your mechanic they kept your body in repair so it could grow up from birth and mature for you today.

3. If you understand this, then you must be aware that "your birth" is your body's birth ...not yours! ...you were "born" long before your body was born! ...but don't get your mind and beliefs tangled in karma or reincarnation, for though your pastlives are yours, they are not you ...and you did not live them!

4. Your pastlives fully reveal you and describe you, so they certainly are yours! ...but knowingly or unknowingly you select your pastlives to substantiate who you are today!

5. If you understand that, then you must realize that whatever you reveal yourself to be, in that, you are, at that moment, creating or bringing yourself alive to be that! ...which affirms and substantiates you are that! ...are you willing to show yourself in an expansive communion ...and be eternally as you show-create yourself to be?

6. If so, then let's consider who you are before birth in this life! ...and even before the pastlives you selected to bring you alive ...and acknowledge and affirm who you are!

7. Through memory, you began in the darkness of the universe as an unenlivened being! ...then, through self-replicating, you created memories and replicated yourself, over and over, as a way to know and affirm yourself in a, by then, truly expansive world of forms, ...however, though you didn't realize it, you brought yourself alive in a narrower and narrower personalized form and way!

8. Therefore, ...the further you look back in time, you will discover yourself to be an extremely expansive eternal ...though unaware being! ...then, as you enlivened or lifed yourself to awareness ...you confined and limited yourself as you are today!

9. What you don't realize is: now that you have brought yourself alive ...and personalized and limited yourself, your extensively expansive eternalself is still within you ...and provides you with access [Book 3] to eternal awarenesses of yourself and all of life!

10. Ever should you communion your personalized self today with your extensively expansive self, you will discover that what you truly desire to become ...you already are! ...though you are not enlivened to that! ...however, as a self-replicating eternalbeing, you can communion yourself with who you truly are! ...are you willing to bring yourself alive in that way?

11. As a self-replicating eternalbeing [P13], what condition of godness [Book 64] would you choose to be and life ...and live forever?

*We can lead you to your eternalself
...but we cannot make you live that!*
