

AN OTHERNESS OF YOU!

DERIVED IMMEDIATELY

1. Is there an otherness of you? ...separate from the "real" of existence you identify so thoroughly with? ...and painfully identify with ...we might add! If so, must you be one or the other of these selves?...can you not be both? ...and live both?

2. Is there an otherwise than living dualities by the judgment of right/wrong? ...in living right-wrong in communion [Book 7] ...are you not living as you truly desire? Is it really wrong to live as you truly desire? ...by your own authority and declaration ...and isn't that preferable to judging all things good or evil? ...and struggling endlessly to avoid evil and live righteously? ...or feeling guilty for doing something wrong?

3. Somewhere in your mind lies a neglected and long-forgotten self and life, ...a creation not spoken of by ancient teachings, religions, or schools of philosophy ...nor by science, ...not even by you! I know this self and life exists for me in a desirable place and time because I have been there! ...and I know that a similar self and place exists for you ...because it must exist!

4. This is not a self and life that will normally reveal itself, you must summon that world to you ...or summon yourself to that time and place! ...when you do that, the experience will completely transform [ID] your life ...and who you think you are!

5. This self and life is always with me ...and frequently abides openly in everything I do, ...yet, at other times, I do not summon this otherness ...and abide in that self and place, ...I let it slip away!

6. Religion has tried to bring this world alive as paradise or heaven ...or as the kingdom of God, but I know this is not a single place for everyone ...it is a different time and different place for each person! ...however, though different for each person, this otherness world is not within each person! ...it is all around everyone, just as cellphone calls and text messages are all around, ...have you answered your call or message and summoned your time and place to you? ...or will you let it be neglected and forgotten? ...and even denied? ...again?

7. Do you have a purpose and destiny in life? Do you believe there is something you are to do? ...or a position you are to attain to? ...something you are to create and offer to others? ...or is it possible there is a self and life you are to summon forth? ...so you can constantly live in communion with that otherness?

8. Is it possible you are to summon that self to abide with you at all times? ...and that is the greatest and finest purpose and destiny for you? If so, do not struggle to discover what you will do in communion, ...form the relationship ...and the rest will become clear!

9. This other self and life is not an imaginary inner-world ...it is a real world all around you, ...though the doorway to that world seems to be within you! Do not be concerned about entering this world for fear that it will take you away from your self and life today! ...for it is vital that you communion with that otherness to expand your self and life and awareness today!

10. Stop looking for an otherness or goodness or fineness to change your self and life! ...to secure you ...and make you well and prosperous, ...to protect you from "evil" and undesirable matters in your body and life, ...to keep you safe in the world around you, ...or to offer you what you truly desire!

11. You wanted life! ...you have life! ...and now you are destroying the body and life you have ...and want a savior to protect you from your self-created doing! ...why do you suppose that is?

12. Is it at all possible you do not love yourself? ...or do not love yourself gloriously? ...and do not life yourself in accordance with self-love? ...maybe because such love is universally "condemned" as selfish? ...and is it possible that this lack of self-love alone is the root of doing in your body and life? ...or sustains your doing? ...and is the lack of true goodness in your body and life today?

13. If you were awarefully living and loving the communion of yourself and your otherness, ...do you really suppose you would judge others, act against them, and do "evil"? ...or abide in undesirable thoughts and ways?

14. If you can be inspired by love to be fair and compassionate and do good works, can you not be inspired by love of self to be fair and compassionate ...and do good works? ...if not, then love cannot inspire you ...and love is false! ...for if love inspires, it must do so no matter how it is expressed ...or to whom!

15. Your otherness self and life is not spirited ...it is mystical! ...meaning it is derived immediately by declaration or fiat! [Book 19] ...just as thoughts are derived immediately ...rather than being created mediate through physical forms! ...being derived immediately your otherness is not composed ...and will not decompose! ...and will therefore be with you eternally! [Book 11]

16. Your otherness self and life is a real world! ...yet, being derived immediately, it can exist and be lived and experienced in communion with your mediate self and life today ...without interference!

17. It is your awakened and enlivened illuminatedbeing ...called resplendent [Book

8) that is immediately enlivened!

18. Do not forsake the world of forms, the world of cause-effect and dualities ...and of judgments and illbeing (Book 19), ...but do not limit your self and life to this composed mediate world! ...know ever that you are living this unacknowledged immediate otherness as well! ...but remember, this otherness is not a spiritual-you! ...nor is it a separate realm or kingdom of heaven, this physical otherness is communioned with you!

19. Nothing compares with the expansive awareness and realization of this world! ...and you have direct knowledge of this otherness ...and access to this self and life through communion and declaration! ...it is that simple ...direct ...and immediate!

20. You should always be alert to the particular otherness that is personal and private to you as you truly desire and declare, ...and be desirous of entering your doorway to that world!

21. If you are unwilling to summon yourself to your otherness, doesn't it seem foolish to continue living your same old beliefs and ways "as usual" and expect this to transform you ...and change the world around you?

22. Your problems do not rest on a lack of knowing! ...and more knowledge of the same beliefs and ways will not ease your body or life ...or the world around you! ...an entirely new transfiguration is needed! (ID)

23. Generally accepted beliefs and ways ...and patterns of life cannot alter the hurt and harm you are still doing to yourself ...and to others! ...and love and compassion are not solutions to this problem either, for all such actions merely follow in the footsteps of generally accepted beliefs and behaviors.

24. All superficial changes of love and acceptance ...and of forgiveness will not change your pain and illness ...or fear of death, your loneliness and disappointment, your doubts and uncertainties about your self and life, or your lack of feeling safe and secure! ...actually, anything that seems to change or relieve these feelings perpetuates the problem ...and does you a terrible disservice! ...for these feelings and actions are not the problem! ...nor do they cause the problem! ...your search for relief is the problem!

25. Ever should you survive an illness or disease ...and declare yourself to be a survivor ...you are not a survivor! ...for you are still living this affliction in not living as you truly desire! Life is much more than survival!

26. A struggle for relief is the nature of all "evil" in the world! ...if only in that you have judged what you are healing or resolving, or anxious to gain relief from, as not good or right! ...or being unsound and inferior, harmful or painful, disagreeable or unpleasant, improper or offensive, ...and even undesirable!

27. Do you suppose suffering exists? ...or maybe you believe God permits suffering in life! Well, let's see! Despite all of your beliefs, suffering means to be the one acted upon ...as distinguished from the one acting.

28. If you believe events and illnesses happen to you ...you suffer! ...if you believe others act against you ...you suffer! ...if you believe evil exists ...you suffer!

29. The unpleasant or terrible evils you see in life result from people attempting to relieve or cure or change their "problems"! ...this does not mean that caring and compassion, helping others, or healing and relief of suffering is wrong or evil, ...but seeking relief instead of living as you truly desire is the genesis and act of evil ...and the source of all "wrong" in life!

30. As an illustration, ...seeking relief from feeling weak and poor gives rise to acts of violence against others for dominance and gain!

31. Seeking to relieve or lessen feelings of unimportance and lack of confidence and assurance frequently creates acts of arrogance, contempt, and lordliness! ...false pride reveals a lack of self-love and genuine importance ...and leads to struggles for pleasure and self-gratification! ...individuals suffering these feelings of lack will do almost anything to lessen their suffering! Do you see in this how evil comes from people attempting to overcome their problems and suffering? ...without something to overcome, these evil actions do not occur!

32. Do you understand that matter cannot act ...it only suffers? ...but you, person~~al~~being-you, can certainly act ...and live as you truly desire! ...therefore, if you suffer in any form, you relate too closely and completely to your body ...and live your life as a constant struggle to relieve your body of its suffering ...which was created by distorted judgments and conflicts.

33. Without your constant struggle for relief and comfort ...and search for cures and healings, peace will reign in your body and life!

34. What do you suppose would change if you dealt with all evil as a struggle for relief? ...realizing, also, that to offer relief merely continues the problem? How would this begin transforming your self and life? ...and help you live as you truly desire?

35. Are you willing to live your self and life based on how things must be at every moment, ...not on how things are? ...and certainly not as distorted judgments have led you to believe how things are?

36. What if the universe does not follow the distorted judgments of your language? ...which makes you believe things are a certain way ...and not another way? ...do your beliefs and experiences prove you are "right" in how things are? ...or merely reveal how things must be ...according to beliefs and experiences?

37. Do you believe it is possible for everyone to live together without the control of moral and legal "right"? Twice in the Book of Judges it is declared, "In those days there was no king in Israel, but every man did that which was right in his own eyes."

38. What would your life be like without a God? ...would you do right, be caring and compassionate, and help others only because that is the way you choose to live?

39. To live as you truly desire what is "right" in your own eyes is the ideal condition of life! ...and if you do "wrong", or what is not right in your own eyes, any effort to change or remedy that ...or make amends continues what is not right in your own eyes! ...and all such actions are "evil doings".

40. What would radically transform your self and life? ...and your beliefs and actions? ...and enable you to begin anew in every moment without seeking to change matters and gain relief from previous actions and activities? ...or without struggling to overcome or be forgiven? ...for, believe it or not, living as you truly desire is the fundamental nature of life ...and the universe!

41. Are you willing to introduce others to self-love? ...to the otherness of themselves? ...to a loving communion with themselves? ...to living that which is right in their own eyes? ...to being as they truly desire? ...and to living anew at every moment?

42. Could you imagine your resurrecting yourself anew in every moment?

43. No matter their form, changes and healings and restorations of your body and matters in your life will never ease or resolve your problems! ...a new humanness is needed! ...what do you suppose would bring about a new humanness in you that does not require constant relief and changes? ...does it seem that an eternalbeing-otherness would strengthen you ...and help you? ...and derive a new humanness?

44. Is it possible that your view of life ...and the image you have of yourself in life is a narrow and distorted judgment? ...not a clear picture or perception? How do you suppose this distorted judgment affects every of affects your self and life today?

45. Unfortunately, it seems you won't broaden your awareness or transform your distorted judgments of yourself and life ...or derive a new humanness until your present beliefs and ways are too painful and unmanageable to continue! ...you want change and relief from your "life as usual" while you continue your "life as usual", ...does that make any sense to you? ...and having faith that someone or something will change you and your life makes no sense either!

46. Do not look for a Savior to offer forgiveness ...or to save you from your personal self-created struggles and adversities! ...begin again ...and do only that which is right in your own eyes!

You can change the world one person at a time!
